RAILWAY LINE CLAIMS 7TH VICTIM

By JIM TANFIELD
tanfieldj@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW MP Bill Rammell is calling on rail chiefs to take action to prevent more deaths on the town's train tracks following the SEVENTH fatality in just three months.

Mr Rammell was speaking after the latest incident at Harlow Town station in which a man was killed after being struck by a train on Saturday evening.

British Transport Police received a report the victim, who had still to be identified as the Star went to press last night but who was thought to be in his 40s or 50s, had been hit by the Stansted express at 7.23pm.

His body was discovered soon after.

Police said they are not treating the death as suspicious and a report for the coroner is being prepared.

An eyewitness, who contacted the Star this week, said it appeared to her the man knew what he was doing.

"It all happened in a split second," she said. "He knew exactly when the train was due. I was waiting for the Liverpool Street train and stood just opposite him."

This latest death follows three fatalities on the tracks last month.

Katie Gumble (35) and boyfriend Dean Pickard (33) were hit by a packed commuter train at Harlow Mill station and two weeks later. Alan Baker, from Harlow, was killed at Harlow Town station.

Three other people have died on the tracks since February 26.

Saturday's fatality makes for some shocking statistics. In the same period nationally last year, 63 people died as a result of accident, trespass or suicide on the rail network. That means Harlow has had the equivalent of one in every nine deaths based on the 2007 figures.

Speaking to the Star on Tuesday, Mr Rammell said: "I'm very shocked and saddened and my thoughts go out to the family."

"I'm also very concerned at the high number of fatalities at Harlow Town and Harlow Mill stations and will be raising my concerns with the rail authority to press for the most suitable course of action to prevent it continuing."

A spokesman for Harlow Council said it was willing to work with British Transport Police and other agencies to discuss the issues.

A BTP spokeswoman said it was working closely with operators and local authorities to deal with the spate of rail deaths locally.

Pass rate praise

HEADTEACHERS of Harlow's schools were given a pat on the back for their pupils' exam successes during a meeting with schools minister Lord Adonis at Harlow Study Centre on Friday.

The event, organised by Harlow Education Consortium, provided an opportunity for the minister to be quizzed on issues including targets, testing and teacher recruitment.

Lord Adonis praised Harlow schools for achieving more than a 30 per cent increase in students achieving A*-C at GCSE during the past 10 years.

Bomb caller jailed for sparking terror alert

Hurricane replica will guard airfield

A MAN who caused panic in Harlow town centre by making a hoax bomb call to emergency services has been jailed for 18 months.

Paul Lyons (31), of Church End, Harlow, admitted the offence at court in February after telling police he thought it had been "funny" to make the false call in which he claimed a terrorist was going to blow up a supermarket.

He was due to be sentenced earlier this month after initial sentencing was delayed for psychiatric reports.

However, he skipped bail after being warned he could face prison for the prank and was eventually sentenced to his stretch behind bars last Monday after Judge Charles Gratwicke issued a warrant for his arrest and he was brought in custody by police officers to Chelmsford Crown Court.

Lyons' punishment comes after he sparked a major emergency response in The Water Gardens on February 7, when he dialled 999 and said an Asian man was about to blow himself up in the Asda superstore.

He told the operator that the so-called terrorist had a rucksack packed with explosives and had threatened to detonate it.

As well as launching an immediate evacuation of the area, Essex Police dispatched an armed response unit and team of bomb disposal experts, sent in covert officers and scrambled the force helicopter. Several fire and ambulance crews were also sent to the scene.

It soon emerged there was no incident and Lyons – who made the hoax call from his own mobile phone – was quickly traced.

He said he had been drinking with two friends and that all three of them had thought it would be funny to make the call and see the emergency services running around for no reason.

An Essex Police spokeswoman said this week: "This incident wasted numerous police resources, including the force helicopter, which could have been employed dealing with genuine calls."

She declined to comment on the sentence handed down to Lyons.

A FULL-size replica of a legendary Second World War fighter plane has been unveiled as a permanent memorial to North Weald's rich aviation heritage.

The Hawker Hurricane, which will act as gate guardian to the village's airfield, was unveiled on Sunday. Among the guests was Wing Commander Tom "Ginger" Neil DFC, who flew a Hurricane from North Weald during the Battle of Britain.

Historic aircraft are traditionally installed at the entrances to Royal Air Force stations to act as gate guardians.

The unveiling coincided with a family open day celebrating 90 years of the RAF and 90 years of flying at North Weald, which included a visit by the Battle of Britain Memorial Flight, the RAF's fleet of Second World War aircraft originally based at

North Weald. Pilots also flew

Hurricanes and Spitfires from the collection in salute over the airfield before landing to join in with the celebrations.

Arthur Moreton, of the North Weald Airfield Museum, said the replica will symbolise the spirit of North Weald and its community.

An Epping Forest Council spokesman added: "The Hawker Hurricane will take pride of place at the entrance to the historic airfield later this year. Proceeds from the entrance fee charged on the day will go towards mounting the replica as a permanent tribute to the men and women who served at North Weald."

Fatal blows of former boxer

KILLER:
Colin Ansell

VICTIM:
Lee Williams

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A FORMER boxer with convictions for violence has been jailed for six-and-a-half years for manslaughter.

Father-of-two Colin Ansell (29), of Pittmans Field, Harlow, was sentenced at Chelmsford Crown Court on Friday having earlier pleaded guilty to killing 26-year-old Lee Williams.

But the court was told it was Mr Williams – widely known as Lee Clark – who started the fight and had been the main instigator in the incident on April 15 last year.

Ansell and friend Justin Poole had been in Bar 21 in Post Office Walk when, at around 12.30am, a row broke out between Mr Williams and Mr Poole. It continued outside and Ansell, along with security guards from the club, tried to break up the fight.

At about 3am Ansell and Mr Poole went back to Ansell's flat in The Hides and Mr Williams, of Bishopfield, Harlow, turned up wanting to resume the fight. Mr Poole refused to go out and instead it was Ansell who confronted Mr Williams, saying: "If you want to fight someone you can fight me."

Mr Williams was punched at least twice and never recovered consciousness from his injuries. He died a week later.

Noel Lucas, prosecuting, said: "Evidence shows that, having knocked Mr Williams down, Ansell then hit him further while he was on the ground and providing no resistance."

He said this theory was supported by analysis of blood patterns on Ansell's jeans.

Mr Lucas also catalogued Ansell's previous convictions including two assaults on police officers in 1994.

Henry Grunwald, representing Ansell, said in mitigation Mr Williams had been "fighting drunk and hell bent on violence," and Ansell had acted as a peacemaker earlier in the evening.

He said Ansell denied striking Mr Williams while he was down and suggested it had been the blow the victim received to the back of the head when he fell that had proved fatal.

Mr Grunwald also drew attention to a number of character references for Ansell, including a letter from a prison officer described as "exceptionally glowing".

Passing sentence, Judge Christopher Ball told Ansell: "You caused the death of Lee Williams. You caused his death because you struck him at least two very significant and severe blows."

"You did not start the episode that ended with his death – it was a fight between him and others that led to you being dragged in and involved – but there did come a point when you did resort to violence and not for the first time in your life."

Clock's ticking on the Midnight Walk

THERE are now just four weeks to go until the Midnight Walk in aid of St Clare Hospice – and if you haven't already registered to take part you will have to be quick.

The closing date for registration has been extended until June 6 which means you have only 15 days to sign up. More than 1,000 people have already done so but there is still room for more.

The Midnight Walk – which is being supported by the Star, our sister paper the Bishop's Stortford Observer and Ten-17fm – will be the hospice's biggest single fundraising event of the year.

The walk, which takes place on Saturday, June 21, will follow a 10km route around Harlow's network of cycle paths. It is NOT a race or a run; you can go at your own pace.

Registration could not be simpler – you can request a pack by telephone or, even easier, register online. Just follow the instructions in the panel.

The cost of registration is £15 per walker but of course you can raise much more for the hospice by getting yourself sponsored. To take part you must be over the age of 16. Places are limited and will be allocated in the order entries are processed.

Everyone who takes part will receive a special T-shirt and goody bag when they arrive on the night.

Marshals will be stationed along the route – which starts and finishes at The Water Gardens – to guide and assist participants when necessary. The Midnight Walk is accessible to wheelchair users.

Every year the hospice provides care and support for hundreds of patients with life-limiting illnesses and their families in West Essex and East Herts, but it costs a lot of money – over £2m annually – to provide these services. Yet it receives only 30 per cent of its funding from the NHS.

Head of communications Giles Wright said: "The Midnight Walk is your chance to support your local hospice charity and enable us to be there for hundreds of local people this year."

So please, if you haven't already signed up to take part, do so today. You'll have a great time and, more importantly, you'll be raising cash for a local worthy cause.

MY REASON FOR WALKING

By ERICA ANDERSON
from Harlow

BACK in 2001 my lovely father-in-law John started to show signs of confusion and forgetfulness. He rapidly became very unwell and in the December of that year he was diagnosed with a very aggressive brain tumour.

This was a very bitter/sweet time for my husband and I because we had not long discovered that I was expecting our second baby. A little further into my pregnancy I began to suffer from high blood pressure and was admitted to hospital on frequent occasions for monitoring. This sadly meant that I was not able to go and visit John, who was now in Addenbrookes Hospital, as often as I would have liked.

Luckily I made it to full term carrying my baby and went to visit John who had now been transferred to St Clare Hospice. We visited John on April 23rd 2002 and told him that we were expecting a little boy as we had kept the sex of our baby a secret from the rest of the family. He was clearly very sick but we knew he understood what we had just told him and he was delighted.

John died at St Clare two days later on April 25, 2002. Taylor John was born on April 28, John's first grandson.

The whole family are so very grateful to the staff at St Clare and this is my way to say a huge thank you. See you on the Midnight Walk.

Up to 70 jobs for the axe?

ONE of Harlow's biggest employers is poised to lay off scores of workers in a further blow to a town economy still reeling from the loss of more than 300 jobs last month

Postal equipment firm Pitney Bowes, in Pinnacles, has announced "some" redundancies as it begins to outsource manufacturing and end old product ranges.

The number of staff facing the axe remains unclear, although one disgruntled employee - who wished to remain anonymous - claimed it could be up to 70.

"They have dropped another bombshell on their manufacturing workforce," they added.

The firm reiterated its commitment to Harlow and outlined plans to create a document solutions centre at its Harlow headquarters - speculating that more jobs could be created as a result.

A spokeswoman said: "Employees made redundant as a result of these changes will be supported in a number of ways to help them find other work within the company or elsewhere."

Stuart Bonthorne, Pitney Bowes's vice president for western Europe, added: "The marketplace in which Pitney Bowes operates is undergoing significant change. We need to take a dynamic approach to operating our business and meeting that change head-on."

Just a month ago, TUI Travel announced plans to pull out of Harlow, cutting almost 300 jobs, while 45 staff at United Glass and 20 at sports store JJB were axed.

IN THE DRIVING SEAT: Competition winner Claire Eels receives the keys to her new car from Alan Birch of Motorsales (photo: GSKSH2PV/04)

Mum's joy at car surprise

MUM-of-two Claire Eels got the surprise of her life when she won a new car in a competition run by the Harvey Centre.

Mrs Eels (35), of Fir Park, Harlow, beat four other finalists to pick the lucky key to a Chevrolet Matiz supplied by local car dealership Motorsales for the shopping centre's Park & Win promotion.

And what made the win even sweeter was the fact that she and husband Glen had been planning to look for a new car after their family saloon broke down last week.

"I couldn't believe it when I found out I'd picked the right key," she told the Star. "It was all down to my daughter, Charlotte who told me to pick a red key. I went for the closest colour which happened to be dark pink and I won!"

Mrs Eels, who is expecting her third child in September, added: "With Glen's car giving up the ghost and another baby on the way, this has all happened at the perfect time. It must be fate."

Man is charged in 'street row' death

A MAN was yesterday (Wednesday) charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Mark White, who lost his life following an altercation outside a Harlow nightclub.

The 21-year-old from Harlow, who has not yet been named, was one of three men arrested at the scene in the early hours of March 21.

The other two were released without charge after answering their police bail yesterday.

Mr White (34), of Broadfields, Harlow, died at Princess Alexandra Hospital after receiving head injuries outside Quattro, in The Rows.

The accused man has been released on conditional bail to appear before Harlow magistrates on June 5.

WE SAY

PUBLIC art, while not to everyone's taste, is an intrinsic part of the culture of Harlow.

So when a piece of art is vandalised, such as Aphrodite in the Town Park, it's part of the town's heritage that is being stolen, left only for the local history books to record.

To destroy our public art is to chip away at the bond which keeps Harlow's community with a semblance of unity - its surroundings - so vandalism is far more destructive than just the physical damage.

It belongs to all of us, so we should cherish it, and around the town many examples of beautiful and complex sculpture can be found, including a Rodin.

To show off or vent anger on an inanimate object created to make the town a more attractive place is simply moronic.

Potential vandals need to take the time to look at the positive workings of the human mind through its artistic creations, otherwise their understanding of life will only ever be as stunted as their actions.

To obtain permission to copy cuttings from the Harlow Star for internal management and information purposes you should contact the Newspaper Licensing Agency, Wellington Gate, Church Road, Tunbridge Wells, TN1 1NL. You can also call them on 01892 525273 or email copy@nla.co.uk

'Cunning' housing plans so unsound

SIR, These are the words of the Harlow Regeneration Study of July 2005: "Given historic under-investment, many elements of Harlow are reaching the end of their lifetime simultaneously and there is a need for significant improvement across the town in the areas of housing, transport and social facilities, as well as town centre revitalisation."

This study stated the overall cost of the growth now proposed by the Government to be of the order of £800m. The current infrastructure backlog is £350m, including £83m on repairs to the existing housing stock. This is before any new building.

Readers may have imagined from the statement issued by Harlow's political leaders after publication of the East of England Plan last week that the Government had agreed to fund all this backlog and all the new infrastructure. However, no new money was announced for Harlow when the plan was published: no bypass, no new sewage treatment works, no new hospital, no new junction on the M11 - nothing, zilch.

The plan explicitly states that there would need to be a "focus on management on the existing infrastructure".

Some argue developers will contribute. All developer contributions do is put up the price of all the houses, making them unaffordable for first-time buyers.

It is also unlikely that Land Securities, which did a deal with Ropemaker for the land north of Harlow, will volunteer much; last week, it wrote down the value of its shops and offices by £1.28bn as it slumped to an £888m loss.

This "cunning plan", as Barbara Follett, Stevenage MP and minister for the East of England, described it at the launch, cannot be implemented. There is no money. Like most of Baldrick's plans in Blackadder, it is totally unsound and will lead to chaos.

Building thousands of houses on green fields without the necessary infrastructure, as well as doing untold environmental damage, will further damage Harlow's reputation. We need a better Harlow, not a bigger Harlow. Any development north of Harlow will compete with the existing town and hamper its regeneration.

Nigel Clark
Secretary, STOP Harlow North
High Street, Hunsdon

SIR, The announcement to plough ahead with Harlow North is not only a blow to the STOP Harlow North Campaign but to democracy and the rules which we are governed by in this country.

Anarchy, division and bad feeling will be the result. Big Brother policies to satisfy developers to swell their profits is what we have.

Disregard our green belt, ignore the consultation process and ride roughshod over local authority representations at your peril. That is what you would expect in a dictatorship.

Perhaps that is what we have now got.

John Rider
Southbrook, Sawbridgeworth

No racist agenda

SIR, I was amused to see on your front page the banner "The voice of Harlow".

A recent public meeting held at Milwards School to discuss the planning application submitted by Herts and Essex Muslim Association was attended by, as you correctly reported (Star, May 8), around 400 people. Unfortunately, the attendance figure seems to be the only true fact in your report. Resident Christine Odell did not brave a chorus of catcalls and boos, as your reporter states. There was no chorus of catcalls or boos.

Ms Odell was undoubtedly courageous to stand in front of a public assembly and state that she is ashamed to be British. This statement drew inevitable gasps from an assembly there upholding the fundamental right of free speech. Hardly the atmosphere your reporter chose to portray.

Your reporter seems not to understand why Ms Odell received such a reaction, so I shall explain. I suggest your reporter takes note in order that truth and not emotive biased rantings appear in your news reporting.

This public meeting was organised by a concerned resident who feels, as I do and as the great majority do, that Harlow Council have acted in an underhand way by desperately attempting to conceal from the majority a contentious planning application which, if eventually granted, will have major effects on the local community.

The meeting was opened by John Downes, who gave excellent and informative presentation laying before us the plans and facts, something the council should have undertaken. There were absolutely no racist comments put forward by anyone at a meeting in which everyone behaved well and spoke politely. Whenever someone, however brave, states that one is "ashamed to be British" you just know what is coming, hence the reaction Ms Odell received.

The common mistake made by the PC brigade is to assume that any critique of an intended action by a minority is racially motivated.

Harlow council chose not to be represented at this meeting; hardly surprising, when they chose to fulfil the legal requirement of consultation by writing to just 20 households, choosing not to consult or inform the thousands of people who will be affected by the influx of up to 500 cars carrying up to 600 worshippers seeking non-existent parking, unless, of course, the intention is to build car parks on our green spaces.

The temporary withdrawal of this application is a small victory for democracy. The decision by Harlow Council, local councillors and Bill Rammell not to attend this meeting due to more important interests shows contempt for democracy and a lack of interest in the people of Harlow. The tide is changing - if you, as elected representatives, choose not to listen and not to act but choose instead to ignore the basic principles of democracy, then it is time you resigned your overpaid jobs, returned your generous allowances and let people who care about democracy do the jobs that you and so many others are incapable of carrying out.

Will Tories listen?

SIR, The residents of Harlow will now be aware that the local council has changed from no-overall control to Conservative control.

The question I pose for residents is this: did they just vote for a change of administration or did they seriously believe that the current level and standard of local services would improve under a new administration?

The new Conservative group will have to deal with the £2m deficit in the local authority's accounts and over £6m in rent and council tax arrears. They have also, as always, promised to cut local taxes.

In any independent and pragmatic assessment, the new administration cannot cut local taxes, deal with the current accounts deficits and improve local services. Please remember that the Conservatives tried that when they were in coalition with the Liberal Democrats and the local neighbourhood offices closed.

I just hope that this new administration will start to listen to the concerns of local residents and act accordingly. The previous administration did not and they finally lost their mandate.

Abseil gratitude

SIR, I would like to extend my sincere thanks to the Rotary Club of Harlow Tye for giving me the opportunity to abseil down the water tower to help my chosen charities Action For The Blind and Essex Air Ambulance.

The organisation of this event was second to none. The help I received from one young man was amazing. He stayed one step behind me and explained where I was as we got to each platform on the spiral staircase and ladders on the top of the tower. He then handed me over to the two men on the ledge; many thanks to him.

I was petrified at first going over the top, but was looked after so well; the lads calmed my nerves and I enjoyed the descent. I wish I could have seen the views. My thanks to them also. I would do it again.

I would also like to thank my lovely family and extended family for all their support, especially the young ones who I heard all the way down. Thank-you too to all my friends and neighbours, my son's neighbours, Haringey Police, Rosslyn Ladies Cycling club and several other cycling club members, girls from the Sportscentre and many more. Thank you all very much.

Thanks for help

SIR, I would like to thank the people who came to my aid when my husband fell and broke his hip at the Tesco crossing in Church Langley, especially the man who called the ambulance and the lady who so kindly offered to accompany me to the hospital.

It's good to know there are many caring people - thank you.

On and off a bus!

SIR, I write to advise Mrs Levine (Letters, May 8) that the bus service to Chelmsford only runs every hour.

Kevin McGrath could try buying a ticket to Sheering, arriving at 9.32am, by which time his bus pass is valid. He may well have to step off the bus and get right back on!

Essex Police Authority

Appointment of Three Independent Members

The Essex Police Authority currently has five independent members, nine councillors and three lay justices who are responsible for securing an efficient and effective police service in Essex, consulting the public about the work of the police and building a partnership between the police and the local communities.

Recent changes in legislation will require the Police Authority to replace the three lay justice members with three additional independent members, at least one of whom must be a lay justice, by October 2008. All lay justices are therefore eligible to apply. The statutory process for filling those vacancies needs to commence now.

Independent members are expected to:

- attend all Authority meetings and appropriate committees and panels;
  - participate in public consultation on local policing issues, including evening meetings and public speaking;
  - keep abreast of developments in both local and national policing; and
  - represent the Authority in discussions with interested parties.
- A minimum commitment of about 10 hours per week is required, for which an allowance and expenses are payable.

Appointments are normally for a term of four years. You must be over 18, live or work within the area covered by Essex Police Authority (and have done so for at least 12 months prior to appointment) and not be otherwise disqualified.

We are looking for people with:

- good communication skills and a willingness to seek out and listen to the views of all sections of the local community on policing issues;

- relevant skills, experience and knowledge - for example in management, business, finance, marketing and PR, community or race relations;
- knowledge of diversity issues to support the Authority's duty to promote equality and diversity in the police force; and
- the ability to represent a broad range of local communities and challenge accepted views in a constructive way.

Essex Police Authority wishes to reflect the composition of the area and welcomes applications from all eligible people - irrespective of disability, ethnic origin, gender, religious belief, sexual orientation or other factor. We want our independent membership to represent as diverse a range of people as possible.

If you are interested in filling a vacancy, an application form and further details may be obtained from: The Chief Executive to the Essex Police Authority, 3 Hoffmanns Way, Chelmsford, Essex CM1 1GU. Tel: 01245 291600. Fax: 01245 291601. Email: epa@essex.pnn.police.uk

The closing date for the receipt of completed application forms is Monday, 30 June 2008.

Further information about the Essex Police Authority is available on the website www.essex.police.uk/authority or come along to an Open Evening between 6.00pm and 8.00pm at Town Hall, Station Road, Clacton-on-Sea on 3 June or the Essex Police Authority, 3 Hoffmanns Way, Chelmsford on 5 June, 2008.

Preliminary interviews for selected candidates will be held in Chelmsford on 24, 25 and 30 July 2008.

Even if this position is not for you, you may know of someone who might be a suitable candidate. If so, please draw this to their attention.

Hundreds turn out for Flog It! auction values

OLD and new came together in Harlow when a BBC crew filmed a popular antiques show in the town.

The BBC daytime favourite Flog It! was filmed at the Latton Bush Centre, in Southern Way, last week and attracted hundreds of people keen to find out if their bric-a-brac could make them a small fortune.

The show, which regularly pulls in two million viewers, gave residents the chance to have their antiques and oddities valued by experts before the items are auctioned off at a later date.

A BBC spokeswoman said about 500 people attended the day, adding: "We were particularly surprised at the variety and number of interesting pieces we saw."

Warning as cars are broken into

MOTORISTS have been warned to look after their vehicles after 28 cars were broken into in Harlow in just six days.

The spate of offences, concentrated in the south of the town, mainly involved the theft of radios and other car audio equipment. Most occurred overnight.

Police have advised people to park in well-lit areas when possible, not to leave items on display and to remove the radio if possible.

Vandals destroy park's Aphrodite

By LOUISE SASSOON

News Editor

sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A LANDMARK Harlow sculpture has been consigned to the scrapheap after being damaged beyond repair by yobs.

Aphrodite, by Ernest Adsetts, was vandalised last week, leaving the iconic woman spray-painted, headless and with a damaged torso.

The artwork, which has stood in the Town Park since being donated to Harlow Arts Trust in 1957 and is valued at about £4,000, will now be put into storage after it was decided it would cost too much to repair. Council workers removed what was left of the statue on Tuesday.

It is the second Town Park sculpture within a year to be irreparably damaged by vandals – Children On A Rock was wrecked last summer.

Jenny Lushington, of Friends of Harlow Sculpture Collection, said she and her colleagues are upset that the town's heritage is being destroyed.

"We are shocked that this mindless vandalism has ruined another of our lovely sculptures," she said.

"The sculpture has given joy to everyone visiting the park for more than 50 years; whole generations of Harlow residents have looked across the water to spot Aphrodite looking out at them – now she has gone!"

"She is a one-off and I really do not understand why anybody would carry out such vandalism."

Harlow Civic Society vice chairman John Curry said he was equally as shocked and disappointed by the news.

Police are investigating the damage. It is understood the insurance money could go towards a new sculpture, although careful consideration will be given to where it will be located.

Rally will mark seven years of anti-war group

SEVEN years of the Stop The War Coalition will be marked tonight (Thursday) with a rally.

The meeting, at 7.30pm in Gibson Court Community Room, Bishopsfield, Harlow, will be addressed by campaign official Stuart Halford, who will pay tribute to the resilience of campaigners.

The meeting will also reiterate calls for British soldiers to be withdrawn from Iraq and Afghanistan and will condemn what it perceives as a recent surge in Islamophobia.

Paul Topley, the Harlow organiser of the Stop The War Coalition, said: "As the conflict in Iraq and Afghanistan worsens for the occupying forces, politicians and the media alike are trying to whip up anti-Muslim propaganda to create a smokescreen to hide behind."

Patients happy ambulance care

A SURVEY of patients shows overwhelming satisfaction with the local ambulance service, with 98.6 per cent of 1,000 people treated by the East of England Ambulance Service in the past year saying they were happy with their care.

School's big reason to start jumping for joy

SCHOOL children were jumping for joy when a new trampoline was unveiled by the town's MP.

The outdoor equipment was bought for special needs pupils at Harlow Fields School after a donation of more than £10,000 was secured from Children In Need by the Harlow Fields School Association.

Bill Rammell cut the ribbon on Friday before he was given a whistle-stop tour of the school's other specialist facilities, including a hydrotherapy pool designed to help children with disabilities.

"This is fantastic equipment for the children to use," he said. "Anyone can bounce, whether disabled or able-bodied, so it really offers all children a good way to integrate and play together during break times."

"I am also really impressed by the Harlow Fields School Association and the money they have raised.

"It really demonstrates how fundraising can really pay dividends and can successfully pay for those little extras which make all the difference."

Bridge decay to be investigated

By CHRIS MOSS

mossc@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

SAFETY fears have been sparked after substantial cracks were discovered in a public footbridge crossing a busy railway line.

Chunks of concrete have crumbled from two supporting pillars either side of the bridge located on the footpath linking Edinburgh Way with the River Stort towpath in Harlow.

One hole is so large that pigeons have nested in it and the steel support columns within the concrete shells of both pillars are severely rusted.

The damage, which was brought to the Star's attention by eagle-eyed amateur photographer Herbert Thompson, of The Dashes, has led to calls for the structure to undergo quick repairs.

Mr Thompson, who immediately informed Harlow Council when he spotted the cracks while out walking, said: "I noticed that the bridge had a couple of pretty severe looking cracks in one of the pillars. I'm not sure whether they've come about through subsidence, but it's clear they need to be repaired before the problem gets any worse."

His concerns were echoed by Harlow Civic Society vice-chairman and former civil engineer John Curry, who warned that repairs were needed sooner rather than later.

"I have noticed the cracks on the footbridge – they've been there for some time. It's clear to me they need repairing before they become a real problem."

"The bridge isn't going to fall down tomorrow, but if it's the council's responsibility to inspect and maintain the structure, they need to make these repairs before it's too late."

When the Star contacted Harlow Council for a response to the concerns, a spokesman for the authority admitted there was some confusion over the ownership of the footbridge but promised engineers would inspect the structure later in the week.

Council focusing on environmental crime

ENVIRONMENT chiefs have vowed to continue their crack-down on those flouting environmental laws after two Harlow women were fined for ignoring fixed penalty notices.

The women, of Rundells and Carters Mead, were ordered to pay penalties when they appeared at Harlow Court after falling foul of the regulations.

They found themselves in hot water after ignoring fines handed to them for dog fouling and dumping a cardboard box but were hauled before magistrates recently and ordered to pay the fines plus a levy.

Council community safety officer Paul Anderson said there were no excuses for littering.

"The box could easily have been broken up and collected for free by our recycling team and the dog owner could have taken her pet for a quick walk and cleaned up after it," he said.

"Just because there aren't signs on every street corner saying you can't dump rubbish – or, indeed, allow your dog to foul the pavement – doesn't mean you can treat a residential area like a refuse tip."

"These cases are further evidence that Harlow Council will crack down hard on environmental crimes and prosecute offenders to help make Harlow a better place for all of us."

Under-age sex charges

A HARLOW man accused of having sex with a girl of 14 in the grounds of Passmores House has appeared before magistrates.

Roofer Luke Saunders (21), of Sycamore Field, appeared at Harlow Court on Tuesday to face a charge of meeting a girl under 16 following sexual grooming and a charge of having sex with an under-age girl.

Because the charges which Saunders faces are too serious to be considered by magistrates, the case was committed to Chelmsford Crown Court. Bail was refused and he was remanded in custody until August 11.

LEAPFROG DAY NURSERY: Bambinos at the Roydon Road nursery said "hola" to a special week learning about all things Spanish.

"The children also got stuck into a paella on one day and they absolutely loved it," said deputy manager Louise Christie. "It's great for the children to be inspired by learning about other cultures."

A world of new experiences

ST JAMES PRIMARY: The school became a global village for the day when parents, staff and children took a cultural trip around the world.

The cultural day was a celebration of the school's diversity, with international food and music being high on the list of new experiences for many of the children. Zimbabwe, France, Jamaica and Mauritius were among the 10 countries being explored.

Headteacher Emma-Jane Wilkinson said: "We are proud to have 25 per cent of the school population whose families originate from places other than England and the cultural day gives them a chance to show off the different tastes and sounds of their culture."

Fathers go back to school On shortlist for play aid

IVY CHIMNEYS PRIMARY: It was back to school for scores of dads at the Epping primary on a special parents' day.

The school's annual Bring Your Dad Day saw a whopping 180 fathers file in to take part in various activities included trips to Epping Library and rocket-making.

A school spokeswoman said: "We have had amazing feedback from the dads about how much they got out of their day here so we will definitely do it again."

ABBOTSWELD PRIMARY: The Partridge Road school is hoping for fun and games after being shortlisted as one of the eight worst playgrounds in the UK desperate for a makeover.

The school is now in the final of tyre manufacturer Goodyear's 2008 playground appeal and could be in with a chance of winning a £10,000 transformation.

The play area currently has a sun shelter which is often vandalised, the equipment shed has been broken into and the fencing is not secure. The last time any significant work was done was in 2004.

Headteacher Lesley Lynn said: "The children are desperate for a climbing frame and I would love it if we could add a path through our wildlife area for our disabled pupils. It would be terrific if we made it."

For photographs of Abbotsweld School playground and details of voting, which closes tomorrow (Friday), log onto www.mygoodyear.co.uk.

Most magical meeting

PASSMORES: As if by magic, pupils from the school doing work experience in a Harlow pub found themselves mixing with a screen wizard.

Students working at The Moorhen, in Burnt Mill Lane, were dazzled to see Rupert Grint - who plays Ron Weasley in the Harry Potter films - dining in the restaurant.

The students could not pass up the opportunity of having their picture taken with the star.

Other Year 10 pupils also made good impressions, with a series of excellent reports arising from their work experience.

Headteacher Vic Goddard said: "Particularly pleasing were reports from Princess Alexandra Hospital, where two students working in the estates department have been told they should apply for apprenticeships."

Race for Life set to run up record total

HARLOW Town Park was temporarily turned into a running track on Sunday as 2,000 women took part in Cancer Research UK's annual Race For Life.

Some ran, some jogged and some merely strolled around the three-mile route but all played their part in generating a fundraising total which it is hoped will beat previous years and smash the £157,000 target.

The race, which was supported by the Star, took place in perfect weather conditions. It was won by Anita Cox, pictured right, who completed the course in under 20 minutes.

Organiser Gill Burgess said afterwards it had the potential to be the most successful yet but only if all those who took part make the effort to collect all their sponsorship money.

"The women of Harlow deserve a really big thank you for creating such a great atmosphere and helping make the event so special," she said.

"Everyone was in party mood on the day and it looked like everyone had a fantastic time.

"The event itself may be over but now it is vital that everyone makes one final effort by returning their sponsorship money as soon as possible to help us cross the fundraising finish line."

Origin of dancing around handbags

OUR recent mention of The Birdcage stirred memories for Annette Turnbull, who points out that the venue's first name was Stone Cross Hall.

"They used to invite people to give blood there," she said. "I was one of the first, but they sent me home because they couldn't get any out of me!

"It then turned into The Birdcage and this was the nightclub where Essex girls became famous for dancing around their handbags. We also used to get the chance to dance up on the stage."

She also recalled Birdcage Walk in earlier times: "There was a large birdcage in the square, with java sparrows, budgies, canaries, love birds and others. It was broken into on numerous occasions.

"There was a pub called The Painted Lady - it's now Quattro - and there was a fresh fishmongers, betting shop and newsgents."

Taking to the streets for a protest

IT was regretted, when we recently told the story of the 1984 closure of Latton Bush and Netteswell schools, that we were unable to source any pictures of the angry protests sparked by the decision.

So many thanks to Primrose Field resident Mag Barrett for this shot, which really shows the strength of feeling in the town at the time. As well as closing the two schools, County Hall had decided to shut all the town's sixth forms too.

"I remember there being a consultation which involved several senior Essex county councillors coming to Harlow to meet parents, who were seen individually for a few minutes," said Mag. "The councillors politely listened while we threw passionate arguments at them. However, the decisions had already been made." As a footnote, it is interesting to compare these scenes with the relatively low-key protests over the recent decision to close Brays Grove. Has apathy taken over in the intervening 25 years?

Up in the air over the Mill

ROYAL Air Force Sawbridgeworth is a topic Nostalgia has touched on briefly in the past and, of course, any further memories of it would be gratefully received.

But John Sapsford, of Sayesbury Road, Sawbridgeworth, recalls aviation experiences in the area before the station even opened.

"My first flight was in 1933 with the British Hospitals Air Pageant, which was a travelling air show," he said. "I got the opportunity to fly

By BEN WILKINSON

when it visited a field near Shingle Hall Farm, north of Sawbridgeworth, a field which later became part of RAF Sawbridgeworth.

"But my second flight, in summer 1935, was in an open cockpit, three-seater Miles Hawk which used to give joy flights at weekends during the summer from fields south of Harlow Mill.

"There were two adjacent, fairly level grass fields, separated by a hedge. A section of the hedge had been removed so that the aircraft could use the length of both fields."

Mr Sapsford added: "Since those days, with the building of the industrial area between the railway and river, a lot of earth has been dumped in that area, so it is no longer level and could not be used as an airfield now.

"I have seen no photographs of this aircraft at the Mill, so if anybody has one I would be delighted to have sight of it."

● CAN you help with Mr Sapsford's request. If so, please contact Nostalgia.

ROBBERS SNATCH HOSPITAL WAGES

THIEVES armed with a double-barrel shotgun snatched the weekly wages from security guards at Princess Alexandra Hospital on Thursday.

Ironically, the robbery came just days after administrators had discussed stopping wage payments to staff in cash.

CHILDREN ON VOTING LIST

CAPTURING the youth vote was found to be stretching the point too far when Harlow Conservatives uncovered the names of several children on the voting list this week.

Their candidate for next month's General Election, Jerry Hayes, revealed the news to TV cameras.

"Several children under the age of 10 were found on the list - five were in the same ward," he said.

WOMAN'S TWO HOURS IN CAGE

HUMAN rights campaigner Pamela Bullen spent more than two hours locked in a small cage outside Harlow Advice Centre on Saturday.

But her pavement protest, aimed at bringing the work of Amnesty International into the public eye, was in vain. "Nobody had even heard of the organisation and they didn't understand what I was doing in the cage," Pamela (22) explained. "The general reaction was hysterical laughter."

VETERAN CYCLE RALLY

BONESHAKERS, penny farthings, a tricycle, three-wheeled tandem and recumbent were all on display for Harlow Cycle Museum's first veteran cycle rally on Sunday.

The rally marked the 10th anniversary of the museum and it is hoped it will become a regular event.

Gordon given a starring role

A TEENAGER from Harlow who gives up his time to help several local drama groups and charities has been named a Young Person of the Year.

Self-taught backstage technician Gordon Clarke (16), of Watlington Road, was among 20 youngsters invited to County Hall in Hertford to receive their awards.

Before an audience of more than 200 including local dignitaries, they shared more than £6,000 worth of prizes. Gordon received a laptop computer worth £500.

Among the many groups benefiting from his theatrical expertise is Sawbridgeworth's YOUTH Create, where Gordon has been a volunteer since he was 13. Not only does he teach sound and lighting skills to other young people but he also worked on a grant application to secure £5,000 for new equipment, which he then installed himself.

He is also involved in Bishop's Stortford disabled drama group Actability, the Real Music Network which helps up-and-coming local bands, and the Realife Trust which provides support and runs enterprise schemes for the disabled and disadvantaged.

Gordon has also worked with drama group the Sawbridgeworth Players and will be stage managing the company's next production.

A pupil at Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth, Gordon was nominated for his YOPEY award by volunteering charity V-involved.

His citation reads: "Gordon is an exceptional person who has given so much of his free time to make a major impact for a number of organisations that are a key part of community life."

Awards organiser Tony Gearing said: "Gordon manages to cram in all his volunteering while studying for four A-levels."

"By helping all these organisations and others – he even did the lights for our awards ceremony – he has notched up over 400 hours of selfless volunteering."

First place for first aiders

YOUNG first aiders from Harlow triumphed in a St John Ambulance regional competition when they represented Essex against other counties.

Katherine Baterip (13) and Sheena Gupta (16), both St John cadets in the town, came first in their category beating teams from Hertfordshire, Suffolk, Norfolk, Bedfordshire and Cambridgeshire. They will now go on to represent the region at a national contest.

In the older age group, Gina Willison (16) and Katherine Saville (19) put in a credible performance to take second place for the county.

Susan McKenzie, divisional superintendent for St John in Harlow, said: "The girls worked hard preparing for the competition and put in a very good performance on the day. I am proud of them all."

Fundraiser for flat fire victim

THE family of Kevin Chapple, the young man who was left with serious brain damage in a flat fire started by arsonists in 2005, are holding a fundraising evening.

The event, which takes place at Harlow Rugby Club in Ram Gorse next month, includes a disco and raffle with various prizes donated by local businesses.

Kevin (30), whose girlfriend Kerry Youngs lost her life in the blaze, remains in care and the money raised will go towards treatments such as acupuncture and speech therapy to aid in his recovery.

Tickets for the evening on June 7 cost £6 and are available by calling Valerie Rees on 07951 061863.

Church's 50th

CELEBRATIONS have been held to mark 50 years of worship at Harlow's David Livingstone United Reformed Church.

A coffee morning was held during which a special birthday cake was shared and photographs taken as a permanent record of church members and friends.

The following day the church organised an anniversary service during which church elder Betty Edwards recalled the church's history and previous ministers.

PAH awards

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital chiefs are planning to reward their 'diamond' staff to mark the 60th anniversary of the National Health Service.

Nominations are being sought from patients, relatives and staff to honour employees who have gone the extra mile to improve patients' experience. Chief workforce officer Alan Farmer said: "It's important that the work of our staff is recognised. We're encouraging everyone who visits the trust to nominate anyone they feel is worthy."

The deadline for nominations is May 30. Forms are available at the hospital or by calling (01279) 827926.

Burma appeal

ROTARY Clubs across Essex have swung into action to aid the cyclone-hit people of Burma by raising funds to provide shelterboxes.

More than 800 of the boxes – which contain a tent, blankets, tools and other survival equipment – have already been distributed.

Sunday school kids coining in the cash

WELL aisle be blown! Youngsters attending St Mary Magdalene's Sunday School in Potter Street, Harlow, collected enough coins to cover the entire church aisle in a recent fundraising drive.

The children, all aged under 12, have been amassing the money in the run-up to Christian Aid week and on Sunday made a start on counting it.

However, they collected so many coins that they still don't know for sure how much they have raised.

Sunday School leader Karen Herbert said: "The children really got into the spirit of Christian Aid Week and can't wait to find out how much they collected for this very worthwhile cause."

Bridget joins a Lords debate

THE House of Lords played host to a teenager from Harlow who was keen to make her voice heard.

Bridget Hutchings (17) was one of six Essex representatives of the UK Youth Parliament who spoke out on issues concerning young people during a three-hour session on Friday. Among the topics were recycling, tuition fees and lowering the voting age. Essex County Council schools, children and families cabinet member Simon Walsh said: "It's brilliant that the representation of young people is being taken so seriously by the House of Lords. The next goal has to be a debate in the Commons."

The Youth Parliament's session was only the second time the House of Lords has been used for a non-Parliamentary debate.

Drop-in centre's respiratory aid

WEST Essex's first drop-in centre for those with respiratory problems is opening in Harlow. The British Lung Foundation and West Essex Primary Care Trust are jointly offering the service, which will operate once a month from June 3, 1-3pm, at the Purford Green Community Centre, in Tumbler Road, as well as the regular Breathe Easy Group meetings on the first Monday of each month at the Jack Silley Pavilion, in Epping. If successful, a similar service may be set up in Epping Forest. Call (01992) 573387 for details.

A dove to launch eco burial site

AWARD-winning journalist Kate Adie has formally opened the region's first eco-friendly cemetery.

At the opening of Epping Forest Burial Park, in Kiln Lane, North Weald, she released a white dove before inviting guests to take a stroll through the beautiful 52-acres of woodland.

Park marketing manager Fran

Hall said Ms Adie was asked to open the burial park last week because of the unique encounters with death, chaos and violence she has experienced in her career.

A GLOBE-trotting Harlow student has embarked on the trip of a lifetime after booking his place as the intrepid presenter of a new reality travel show.

Dave Brett (18), who studies travel and tourism at Harlow College, beat thousands of hopefuls from throughout the UK to win one of six places on a six-month world trip documented on social networking website Bebo.

The thrill-seeker has an unquenchable thirst for travel and has already conquered most of Europe, jetting off most weekends from Stansted Airport to the continent.

Inspired by TV travellers Michael Palin and Ewan McGregor, he believes it was his raw passion for new countries and cultures which swayed the judges.

"I live for travel, so I was absolutely over the moon when I found out I'd won," he said. "I know it sounds over the top, but it's going to be like winning the Lottery every week for me."

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

But Mr Brett, who lives with his grandmother in Aynsley Gardens, Harlow, while he studies, is still in the dark about just where the show will take him after starting his trek yesterday (Wednesday) because producer Endemol has kept the destinations under wraps.

"It all adds to the excitement – although it's going to make it a bit difficult to know what to pack!" he said on Friday. "Although I've seen lots of Europe, I've never travelled outside the continent so I'm relishing the opportunity to visit the places I've always dreamed of going to."

And despite Endemol's reputation for springing the odd nasty surprise on the contestants of its most popular show – Big Brother – Mr Brett remains unconcerned.

"If they do surprise me, it will all just add to the experience. I'm determined to have fun on this trip while remaining informative for the viewers."

MESSAGE Jrog vf o hanag'f soiaehvgu glcu as zefvp? Ruoil zugoy

IT might sound a bit like the plot of new film Iron Man, pictured left, but American scientists have now invented futuristic robo-suits which give soldiers superhuman powers.

The suits look like metal skeletons and have been designed to be worn like a second skin.

Known as 'exoskeletons' and made from lightweight aluminium, they have the ability to make the wearer stronger, increase their stamina and provide them with greater protection.

A research team working for Raytheon Systems – an American defence company that has a factory in Harlow – are behind the suits and the US Army has spent millions of dollars on them in the hope they will help save soldiers' lives in the future.

The scientist heading up the project, Dr Stephen Jacobsen, describes the suit as a combination of science, art, engineering and design.

"People call it different things," he said. "Sometimes they call it inventing, sometimes they call it engineering and sometimes they call it being a mad scientist! But to us it's the process of getting together, understanding the problems, goals and then designing something to satisfy the need."

People who have tested out the suits say they are very easy to move around in and can help them pick up heavier loads.

There is still much work to be done on the futuristic suits so it will probably be at least eight years until soldiers are wearing them for real.

Happy Birthday

IT promises to be one of the biggest movie releases of the summer.

Sex and the City, which opens next week, sees Sarah Jessica Parker reprising her role as Carrie Bradshaw, the style-driven journalist whose romantic exploits were the key focus of the television show. Joining her are friends Kim Cattrall, Kristin Davis and Cynthia Nixon.

To celebrate the film's launch, we have teamed up with Lakeside Shopping Centre to offer one lucky reader and three friends a day to remember

The four lucky ladies will win the perfect girls' day out worth hundreds of pounds. Your day will start with a fabulous shopping spree at Lakeside where you'll be armed with four £50 Gift Cards to spend as you like.

With over 280 stores to choose from, including glamorous fashions at Zara and Coast, you'll be able to find a new outfit to rival those worn by Carrie and the rest of the girls on the big screen.

Once you've picked out a stylish new look, you'll head to the state-of-the-art Vue cinema to watch the film. Then make your way to Lakeside's Boardwalk for a fantastic evening sipping cocktails while nibbling on delicious Latin American treats at Las Iguanas. What better way to spend the day and night with your best friends.

For a chance to win this great prize just answer the simple question in the entry coupon and follow the entry instructions.

Alternatively, email your answer (A, B or C) along with your name, address and daytime telephone number to buckledeea@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Agency celebrates its first birthday

STAFF at a leading Harlow recruitment consultancy are aiming even 'hire' this year after celebrating the firm's first anniversary!

Select Appointments, in Terminus House, marked its first year in operation yesterday (Wednesday) and employees were in celebratory mood.

The Harlow branch offers temporary and permanent staffing for businesses throughout Essex, catering for everything from junior positions right up to management and directorial posts.

People who have been out of work for some time can also benefit from basic IT training to help them get to grips with the latest technology, while businesses looking for the ideal candidate can take advantage of the private off-site interview room.

Confidence of one-stop idea

THE development firm behind the Harlow One trade counter scheme in Edinburgh Way has claimed it is on track to become the town's premier business park.

The bold prediction by RO Developments chief executive Chris Bond follows the announcement that one-third of the site has now been snapped up by leading builders merchant Travis Perkins.

As part of the lucrative £8.50 per sq ft rental deal, the development firm will also specially construct an extra trading unit on adjoining land.

By CHRIS MOSS
moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The move will comprise three separate units in total, from which Travis Perkins will trade as Benchmark Kitchens And Joinery, City Plumbing Services and Keyline, offering a comprehensive one-stop-shop service for those in the construction trade.

The entire Harlow One scheme covers a remarkable 135,000 sq ft (12,540 sq m), with 40,000 sq ft (3,715 sq m) reserved for the trade counter scheme and an existing 80,000 sq ft (7,430 sq m) unit developed for storage firm Lok'n Store.

RO has a further two of the eight trade counter units under offer and expects to have the remaining buildings let in time for their completion in June.

"We are delighted to welcome Benchmark, City Plumbing Services and Keyline to the scheme and are in detailed discussion with several other parties," said Mr Bond. "This will be the premier trade park in Harlow."

Mark Garrity, property acquisitions manager with Travis Perkins, added: "Harlow One's position on Edinburgh Way adjacent to retailers such as B&Q, Homebase and Comet makes it the ideal location for us. We are looking forward to opening as soon as possible."

Weight-loss firm out on the road

AN innovative Harlow weight-loss firm hit the campaign trail in a branded tour bus on Saturday as staff embarked on a major promotional drive to improve the nation's health.

The LighterLife tour kicked off at the firm's head office in Harlow Business Park before making its way to Kent's Bluewater Shopping Centre.

The specially designed bus provides information on the LighterLife brand and offers visitors the opportunity to find out their Body Mass Index via onboard computers and even have a one-to-one consultation with a clinical adviser or counsellor.

To coincide with the firm's nationwide tour, a £1m TV advertising campaign was also launched on Monday, featuring one client who managed to lose seven stone through the firm's weight-loss programme of soups, shakes and bars complemented by counselling.

JACK'S HATCH GARAGE

PART of the local community since 1918, Jack's Hatch Garage at Epping Green offers the same high standards of service that were common years ago, combined with today's up-to-date technology!

You'll still find attended service at the pumps and you don't even have to leave your vehicle to pay for your fuel unless paying by 'chip and pin'.

Jack's Hatch Garage was founded when the Faux family settled in the area after moving from Tottenham at the end of the First World War. The business began life as a refreshment stop for cyclists and later developed as a garage service.

Nowadays, you'll find a wide selection of car batteries and accessories in stock, to ensure you're adequately equipped for the winter months, as well as many new tyres.

Jack's Hatch Garage enjoys a wealth of experience gained through five generations of Faux family ownership. With the local community supporting its local independent garage, the same standards and personal service are as much in evidence today as they were in years gone by.

In today's fast moving world, it's good to be able to take a step back occasionally and see "time standing still". Jack's Hatch Garage is a fine example of a garage from bygone days.

THE WILL GROUP (T.W.G Wills & Co) Serving the community since 1991

MAKING a will enables you to protect your property by creating a simple trust and allows you to secure your home for your children and your future generations.

Should the unforeseen happen, you can make a provision in your will to protect your elderly parents. As a nation of animal lovers, who will care for your pets if you are not there?

If you are aged 60 years and over, drafting a will allows you the opportunity to leave a legacy or gift to friends, grandchildren and family members.

A will should be drafted to make the most of your tax allowances. Specialised wills called 'discretionary wills' can also provide for children and family members who cannot care for themselves.

Wills do go missing when the time comes to administering your estate. It is therefore essential to keep the document in a safe and secure place. Your will is a legal document and cannot be replaced.

- o Is your property fully owned?
- o Do you have grandchildren?
- o Have you made provision for elderly parents?
- o Do you use your tax allowances?
- o Gifts to friends and relatives?
- o Care and residential homes in later life?

Free home visiting service daytime, evenings and weekends. The cost for making a will is a fixed fee.

The Will Group has local representatives who are trained to give advice and to take your instruction for the drafting of your will. Senior citizens and NHS staff members can benefit from a special discounted price.

Call today for further information or to request a free brochure and fact sheet.

CHINGFORD MOBILITY

WITH 15 years' experience in the mobility industry, having worked in shops in Basildon, Romford and Waltham Abbey, Anne and Terry decided to open their own business, Chingford Mobility, two years ago.

Their combined experience made them realise they could provide a better service by doing it themselves.

Anne and Terry feel passionate about providing a good, reliable, honest service and pride themselves on being able to offer the right equipment to suit each individual.

Terry is a qualified engineer and services equipment such as scooters, wheelchairs and stairlifts.

Chingford Mobility stocks a large range of mobility scooters, power chairs, wheelchairs and accessories, walking and household, bathroom and bedroom aids and reclining chairs. There is also a range of bath and stairlifts and the company is an approved dealer for stairlift manufacturers Acorn, Brooks and Stannah.

Chingford Mobility offers free local delivery, and will visit clients' homes and let them try out demonstration models free of charge. Terry will also go to people's houses and give an expert opinion on what mobility equipment may be suitable for them.

While Terry is out and about Anne looks after the shop, assisting customers - especially the elderly - with the best advice to suit individual requirements. The company also hires out manual wheelchairs for holidays on a daily or weekly basis.

Chingford Mobility offers a one-year warranty, which includes all parts and labour. The shop has a stock of catalogues, which can be sent out or collected in-store.

There is also a mail order service, with a charge for postage. Customers can send in a cheque and orders will be despatched. All products are exempt from VAT to customers with disabilities. Opening times are Monday to Friday 9am-5pm and Saturdays 9am-4pm.

Gin Game a tonic for fans of high class drama

LIKE many local people who find the cost of going into London to see a show really expensive, it is a delight to find high class drama right here on our doorstep.

The variety and quality of plays at the home of Moot House Players in The Stow is amazing.

REVIEW THE GIN GAME

Moot House Players, Moot Hall, Harlow

Their most recent offering, The Gin Game by DL Coburn, was a bittersweet comedy about two senior citizens coming to terms with their lives in a care home.

This was a brave and interesting play for director Tony Edwards to choose, because apart from Dot Cotton and Victor Meldrew old people hardly ever appear on the media's radar.

The standard of acting, as usual, was excellent, with Robbie Chittick and Jennifer Southwell holding the audience's attention.

The ability of Moot House Players to surprise and enchant over the season is often reflected in the creative sets and attention to detail.

The audience were treated to a care home by Bettina Hewlett and Paul Regeli that simply makes the £8 admission price such great value.

The next show is a famous George Bernard Shaw play, Arms And The Man, for which the Players deserve a sell-out.

Provoking thought on the art of friendships

REVIEW

ART

Global Theatre Company, The Playhouse Studio, Harlow

ART is a tragicomic social drama which has almost become a self-sustaining industry, achieving astonishing international success yet remaining as frustratingly divisive among critics as its subject matter.

At its heart is a brilliantly simple concept about art and friendship, with three close friends forced to reassess their relationships after squabbling over the artistic worth of a modernist painting.

The purchaser of said painting, self-confessed modernist Serge (played with great assurance by Keith Cummings), has paid a small fortune for the piece – a large white canvas with several, well, white diagonal lines – and sees it as money well spent.

But his friend Marc (the ever-brilliant Richard Holliss) disagrees, unceremoniously rubbing the work and taking a perverse pleasure in ribbing his old chum while extolling the superior virtues of classicism.

Completing the triumvirate is Yvan (a show-stealing performance from David Millard), whose attitude towards the piece is ambivalent at best – besides, he has far greater concerns with a wedding looming and a disgruntled mother to appease.

Some see Yasmina Reza's play as a debate on aesthetics, others on the place of art in society, while many will view it as a very human drama with art merely the catalyst for self-scrutiny.

Ultimately, it doesn't have much to do with art at all – it may appear to be the play's subject, but it's treated just as that, a topic of conversation inviting differing opinions and interchangeable with race, religion, politics and even football.

What the play does, like the painting, is to provoke – a reaction, a conversation, an argument – and in this it exceeds its humble premise spectacularly, beautifully illustrating the complexities of friendship and the bizarre power struggles of give and take in which we all participate every day.

In less capable hands, it could have descended into an ugly slanging match, but director Michael Phillips ably steered the production into the calmer waters of comedy drama without sacrificing pathos.

HULK SMASH! Tiny Irons gets ready to rumble in WRESTLEFEST X: PALACE OF PAIN (S)

GRAPPLE fans will be power-bombing and pile-driving their way to The Playhouse for the next instalment of a crazy wrestling franchise.

The delicately titled Wrestlefest X: Palace of Pain is staged on Saturday week and features all the favourites, including Tiny Irons, PJ and Charlie Rage.

Wrestlefest is the brainchild of producer Phil Dale and director Mike Fentiman, the team behind the hugely successful Playhouse community pantomime, sadly now axed by Harlow Council.

They staged a wrestling match as part of a charity event in 2005 and haven't looked back since. Phil attributes its success to the theatrical elements intrinsic in wrestling, adding: "Wrestling is as much theatre as it is sport – we all know that really, but often people don't want to buy into it. 'So many times I hear people say 'oh, but it's not real' and they're both right and wrong with that answer, as it's staged to a certain extent – the outcome may well be pre-determined, but what you see is very real as these guys are highly trained athletes and the spectacle they put on is breathtaking."

"Anyone who's enjoyed one of our pantomimes in recent years won't be disappointed with Wrestlefest. All the elements are there – good guys and bad guys, great costumes, dancing girls, special effects; we've even got clowns and a storyline that everyone can get into! It's a great night of family entertainment." Tickets are £12 from (01279) 431945 and the show starts at 8pm.

Indy's back in business to face a test of skull

GOING UNDERGROUND: Harrison Ford, left, and Shia LaBeouf star in INDIANA JONES AND THE KINGDOM OF THE CRYSTAL SKULL (S)

THE man in the hat is back after a 19-year hiatus, but fans of the intrepid treasure-hunter won't even have time to notice he's older, wiser and a little bit wrinkly around the edges in this breathless update of the peerless adventure franchise.

Inevitably set to bullwhip its blockbuster competitors into submission at the box office, Indy has cast a long shadow over the action adventure genre ever since he gave a bunch of Nazis a thrashing back in 1989.

So it's a great relief to welcome the original wisecracking archaeologist back to the screen,

INDIANA JONES AND THE KINGDOM OF THE CRYSTAL SKULL

certificate 12A, running time 2h 2m

but what can be important enough to have brought him out of retirement?

As always, the answer's in the title, but this is perhaps Indy's most precarious mission yet, so it's just as well he's brought some mates along this time – hip young gunslinger Mutt Williams (Shia LaBeouf) and old flame Marion Ravenswood (Karen Allen, reprising her Raiders Of The Last Ark role).

Fast-forwarding 19 years from the events of The Last Crusade, it's 1957 and the world teeters once more on the brink of certain apocalypse, only this time it's because of those pesky Russians, headed up by Cate Blanchett's frosty fencer Irina Spalko.

The plot doesn't really stray from the tried-and-tested formula save for one or two surprises, so we fittingly find Dr Jones in a desperate race against time to find and return a priceless artefact – the crystal skull – to its rightful South American home before the Russians get there first.

Thankfully, the tongue-in-cheek humour and knowing schmaltz is all there, as are the snake-pits, poisonous ants, booby traps and whipsacks, and this long-awaited release has enough heart-pumping, adrenaline-packed and wildly improbable set pieces to keep even the most avid Indy fan happy.

preview screening

MAID IN NEW YORK: Sarah Jessica Parker stars in SEX AND THE CITY: THE MOVIE (S)

Gal pals up for their biggest adventure yet

SEX AND THE CITY: THE MOVIE

certificate 15, running time 2h 25m

THE fabulous foursome hit the big screen in this powder-puff, lightweight cash-in on the success of the never-ending TV series.

Still on the box every night despite finishing four years ago, the show is so ubiquitous that even those who've never sat through an episode of self-congratulatory musings on sex, sex and more sex will recognise the brand name.

For those who've avoided being sucked into kitsch, middle-class fairytale land by Carrie Bradshaw and co, the show – and now film – revolves around four middle-aged women living the high life in New York, delving into their underwear drawers and charting their heroic sexual exploits.

A bit like four rubbish superheroes, each has her own irritating trademark – leader Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker) is the neurotic newspaper columnist with a questionable fashion sense, veteran man-eater Samantha (Kim Cattrall) is the stuck-up shoe-lover with a penchant for bizarre sex, sour-faced Miranda (Cynthia Nixon) is the boring, brainy token ginger one and ditzy brunette Charlotte (Kirsten Davis) is the cute romantic dreamer who thinks she's a princess.

The plot of the film has been kept tightly under wraps, but expect to see Carrie and on/off love rat Mr Big (Chris Noth) getting it on, Samantha struggling with subservience, Miranda facing a dilemma after her hubby's infidelity and Charlotte becoming a foster mum.

Fans of the show – and there are enough of them to make this one of the biggest films of the year – will doubtless lap it up.

sound check with Chris Moss

NU-rave – remember that? A brief riot of colour, bad drugs and worse tracksuits provoked by a bunch of NME-reading public school types brandishing glowsticks and claiming to have reinvented that forgotten summer of lysergic-tinted love?

Well, it thankfully disintegrated under the weight of its own expectations about a year ago, but some bands unfairly shunted onto the doomed bandwagon by misguided music hacks have managed to plough boldly on – some even adopting the dodgy tracksuits, perhaps as a reminder of how it could all go Pete Tong.

LR Rockets are among those battling the backlash against a genre which – like The Klaxons before them – they have very little to do with.

Sure, they like wearing day-glo jackets and go by ridiculous pseudonyms, but

BAND: LR Rockets

their ferocious sound is more reminiscent of an angry, futuristic version of The Clash having discovered loop pedals. And with more killer hooks than an angling convention, the fearsome foursome shouldn't have any difficulty in hitting the big time, with current single Personality – an unhinged mental breakdown played out through Johnny Thunders' melodic angle-grinder – already getting A&R men and DJs all hot under the collar.

CD reviews by Ben

THIS IS NOT THE WORLD

The Futureheads (album, Nul)

If you were one of those people who thought it rather strange when the excellent Futureheads got dropped by the label 679 back in late 2006, then perhaps here is your answer. Either it's a conscious decision by the Mackems to go relentlessly down the dull route for their third LP or they've just run out of steam. It's not bad – the title track is likeable, and Sale of the Century recalls the idiosyncratic jerkiness for which they're famous – but this quite simply isn't the same band that made us sit up and take notice in 2004. If you want something this bland and commercial, why not just go and buy a Kaiser Chiefs album?

WHERE THE LIGHT GETS IN

Sennen (album, Hungry Audio)

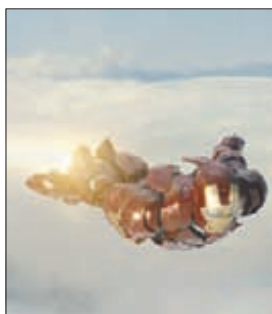

Along with Colman's mustard and Alan Partridge, Norwich can now lay claim to this dreary bunch of Teenage Fanclub wannabes who met at the University of East Anglia. Of course, there are far worse – and less fashionable – sounds a band could aspire to, and one suspects that Sennen have achieved everything they set out to with this debut. The trouble for the listener, though, is that all the carefully laid-down instrumentation and harmonies don't leave

The living end of a decaying class

THE LIVING AND THE DEAD
(DNC Entertainment, 15, retail & rental)

A decaying stately home is the eerie symbolic setting for writer/director Simon Rumley's powerful psychological drama about the unravelling of the last descendants in a line of blue-bloods.

Longleigh House is a crumbling mausoleum, paper peeling from the walls of its huge, vacant rooms and honeycombed with dark labyrinthine corridors. Patriarch Donald (Roger Lloyd Pack) has to go away for a few days to stave off losing the estate, leaving his bed-ridden wife Nancy (Kate Fahy) and schizophrenic adult son James (Leo Bill) under the supervision of a private nurse.

Unfortunately, the disturbed and seriously mentally impaired James sees a chance to prove his worth to his parents and determines to be the man of the house, locking the nurse out and trying to care for his mother alone.

But when he neglects the daily regime of pills and shots keeping him stable, he spirals into an evermore threatening madness of frustration, helplessness and wild hallucination, setting in motion a chain of events made all the more tragic by their inevitability.

All three actors give quite superb, heart-wrenching performances, but special mention is due to Bill for never once lapsing into caricature with an increasingly frantic assortment of behavioural tics which make James' descent plausible and terrifying.

Rumley makes the most of brooding Tottenham House, in Wiltshire, his stately framing of its gloomy spaces working in stark contrast to the surreal speeded up sequences depicting both James' fraying emotional state and his perception of reality.

This intense drama plays out as a deeply personal story of human grief, touching on primal fears of lost identity and slipping control, but also works metaphorically as a funeral dirge for an aristocracy and an ideal of Britain long past their expiry dates, inviting comparison to David Cronenberg's Spider and Poe's The Fall Of The House Of Usher.

Star rating: ★★★★★

THE BACKWOODS
(Momentum Pictures, 18, retail)

It's Straw Dogs-a-go-go in this UK/French/Spanish co-production but despite having heavy duty screen thespes Gary Oldman and Paddy Considine aboard, something's missing.

The pair play, respectively, boss and employee holidaying with their wives in rural Spain in 1978, but a day of male-bonding and shooting in the woods ends badly when they discover a mute, feral girl locked in a remote cabin and bring her back, an act which sees gun-toting locals heading their way with far more than a neighbourly glass of sangria in mind. It's entertaining enough, and largely well performed, but the close parallels with Peckinpah's Cornish western rob it of oxygen when you know it's only going to be a matter of time before Considine's meek Everyman gets in touch with his inner warrior.

Star rating: ★★★

WHAT HAVE THEY DONE TO YOUR DAUGHTERS?

(Shameless Screen Entertainment, 18, retail)

This 1974 plunge into the seedy underbelly of Rome blends elements of the giallo thriller with police procedural to emerge as a surprisingly serious-minded film skirting much, although not all, of the story's potential for sleazy exploitation.

Detectives looking into the apparent suicide of a 15-year-old schoolgirl uncover a teenage prostitution ring whose connections appear to snake right to the top of 'respectable' society, but they constantly run up against literal dead ends as a clever-wielding biker prowls the streets to brutally cut off suspects before they talk.

Juxtaposing society's assumed innocence of the young girls in peril with the far more likely reality of their sexual precociousness, director/co-writer Massimo Dallamano maintains a fast pace with some excellent stalking set-pieces and chases, all propelled by Stelvio Cipriani's stylish and often moody soundtrack.

Star rating: ★★★

FIVE ACROSS THE EYES
(Lionsgate UK, 18, retail & rental)

Five teenage girls on the way home from a football match stop to ask directions, have a minor prang with a parked 4x4 and slip away without a word, triggering a night of hell as the vehicle's psychotic female driver comes after them.

Shot grainy on camcorders and largely unfolding in real time, the film has a fairly gripping Blair Witch Project immediacy and the five leads give very naturalistic performances. However, the incessant snivelling and screaming chaffs after a while, not least for obscuring so much of the dialogue, while the psycho's sexual torments have nothing to do with her motive for pursuing them and the film could really have done without the car radio playing a mood-appropriate soundtrack throughout.

An interesting exercise in micro-budget film-making, nevertheless, and it does have a most awesome title. Star rating: ★★

STORM WARNING
(Optimum Home Entertainment, 18, retail & rental)

A compelling and fairly smart dose of urbanoia from Urban Legend director Jamie Blanks, Storm Warning pitches a nice city couple from their relaxing day's fishing and into the clutches of a morally degraded clan of marijuana-growing rural Australian psychotics.

But as the deranged father and his two sons steal their clothes, terrorise and humiliate them, the movie shifts from harrowing Wolf Creek territory to focus on the pair's creative and bloody retaliation as they devise Heath Robinson-esque death traps and take the fight back to their tormentors, showing the kind of rational intelligence too often absent from movie characters in such a plight.

Star rating: ★★★★★

DRAGON WARS
(Sony Pictures, 12, retail & rental)

Possibly one of the silliest movies you'll see all year, this Korean fantasy set largely in LA is goofy good fun when its CGI beasts are tearing up the city.

The evil giant serpent Buraki is seeking a magical power intended for a good giant serpent, which will turn it into some sort of super-dragon and is currently residing in the tattoo of a young woman who's the reincarnation of a 15th century Korean girl.

Put such utter gibberish (and the interminable exposition needed to deliver it) out of your head – along with considerations such as how nobody notices a half-mile long snake in LA or why it has an army of humans and assorted types of dragons helping it – and just sit back to enjoy the brainless spectacle of big snakes duking it out.

Star rating: ★★

★★★★★ unmissable   ★★★★★ very good   ★★★ good   ★★ fair   ★ don't bother

Wilkinson, Jim Tanfield and Chris Moss

much room for any memorable tunes. Even manic military drumming on Falling For You and self-indulgent noise track Sennen Enjoy Life fail to liven things up. It's all a bit like Editors on a comedown.

AMERITOWN
Eastern Conference Champions (album, Island)

This Pennsylvania trio make a pretty staggering noise, a rock noise no less, which ebbs and flows between full-on drum murdering to piano ballad. Josh Ostrander's nasal vocals are slightly grating at first, but the quality of the songwriting soon takes over and when the faux-mod powerhouse Some Sorta Light kicks in, you know everything's going to be just dandy. All in all, this is pretty good with no lazy fillers and the odd flash of brilliance.

MAKE SURE THEY SEE MY FACE
Kenna (album, Star Trak/Interscope)

If Mark Ronson's next trick was to try to ape LCD Soundsystem using Depeche Mode as his backing band, it would probably sound like this bizarre yet forgettable second album from Ethiopian-born American multi-tasker Kenna. It's an almighty strange brew of shimmering new wave, '80s synth-pop and skewed electro that scores top marks for creativity but is ultimately undermined by a catastrophic identity crisis. Like a kid playing with mum's new blender, he's undoubtedly having fun mashing stuff up but the result is always going to be a bit of a mess.

THE ZOMBIES AND BEYOND
The Zombies (album, UMTV)

Following their triumphant reunion gig in March, the '60s psych-pop legends release the inevitable cash-in compilation. Strictly for completists, there are no surprises, with nine of their timeless baroque-pop peacocks to memory, lost love (She's Not There) and Old Father Time (The Time of The Season) alongside the fated but flawed solo efforts of co-vocalists Rod Argent and Colin Blunstone. Do yourself a favour and instead buy Odyssey & Oracle (sic), undoubtedly one of the greatest albums of the 1960s British Invasion.

Our stars with
Patrick Arundell
guiding you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
Financial wrangles may require recourse to the law. This could see you pursuing someone in the Small Claims Court, or going to your local Citizens Advice Bureaux. Shared monies require fairness from all.
Adopting the high moral ground is probably not the best way to achieve this.
After all, people make contributions in different ways, not just in cash.
Call now for more.

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
The restless Uranus comes under the bewitching spell of Venus. Both in matters of the heart and finance, this mix can see you with more devilment. The Full Moon also suggests that your emotions around romance can be heightened with your usual logical detachment replaced by a more instinctive, even compulsive edge. The temperature climbs. Call for your love scope in full.

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
The Full Moon
connects with deep Pluto. This is quite a positive combination but whatever you're feeling about the most important person or persons in your world, these can become more acute. Partnerships particularly, come under the spotlight. If there has been any turbulence
bubbling away in the background, these feelings may now boil over. Call now for more news and astral advice.

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22 Certain involvements reach a crunch point. Make or break? Absolutely. Any cloying or unsatisfactory life may need to make way for more exciting and relevant associations. In fact, magic is in the air and this can see you drawn towards someone who is playful,
independent but full of charm. Socially too, people with greater vivacity are a must. Call me now for more news.

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
This is an important week from a psychological viewpoint
but one you can gain from. However, as we all know, sometimes life is pain in gain and so it may be here. If you feel that others are blanking you,
keeping you in the dark,
or running roughshod
over your sensibilities, it can bite deep. Yet this can teach you to fall back on your own resources. Call for your in-depth forecast.

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
Your get-up-and-go is one of your major attributes. But that doesn't mean you shouldn't afford yourself some periods where you feel less dynamic and resourceful.
So, if you're feeling less revved up than usual, rather than rue this, have a few early nights. Also beating simple, but high quality foods can help boost bodily nutrients and your immune system. Call for more advice.

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Despite the bad
press that full Moons get in astrology, if you're solo, this week's can give your romantic prospects a fillip - when the factor in a greater line between the sly Venus
and the enigmatic Uranus. All this can spark much flirtation and mirth and see your animal magnetism turned up to
max. Settled? Be daring.
Create a spark. Do something saucy. Call me now for more.

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20 Surprise social invitations can see your diary get packed-full but hey, it's great to be in demand. Neighbours can also want you to be their star in a greater line find yourself featuring in a fun community escapade. Let humour fill your world, but also keep a keen eye out for any friend who has drifted from view. They will mightily appreciate your call. Call for your in-depth forecast.

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Playing the lead role in a major stage production is wonderful but then there's the matinee performance to do as well. What with signing autographs and giving press interviews,
all this can take its toll.
In other words, being in demand and being so popular, does have its down sides. Leo. Try to create more personal space or time for close loved ones. Call your prediction line for more.

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
If the whirlwind demands of an everyday role seem

The hybrid benchmark

WHILE lounging with a newspaper in a coffee shop recently, I was treated to a fascinating piece of buyer behaviour.

Emerging from a big discount store, I noticed a chap roll up the conspicuously branded carrier bag, sneak a peek to make sure nobody was looking and then pop it in a bag from a far more upmarket retailer.

This is, in microcosm, the reason why the first generation of so-called hybrid cars failed in the UK.

Nobody wants to be obviously branded a penny pincher. The latest Toyota Prius, however, has set about rectifying that hiccup. When the original Prius and its Honda rival, the Insight, were first launched, many were impressed with their technology and green credentials. Using an electric motor to augment or temporarily replace a conventional petrol engine was a great idea.

Unfortunately, both cars were rather compromised, the Honda by its 'squeezed from a toothpaste tube' styling and impractical two-seater layout, and the Toyota by its dull driving manners, cramped cabin and distinctly lacklustre lines.

Toyota's second generation Prius changed all that and gave the company leadership in this sector. It has recently been improved, with changes to the styling of its headlamps and rear light clusters and a restyled front grille. In the cabin, passenger comfort has been enhanced, with an adjustment to the hip point for those sitting in the back.

Buyers will also find smarter upholstery colours, a soft-touch paint finish for the dashboard and introduction of a leather-trimmed steering wheel across the range. Fresh options include full leather trim, new metallic paint finishes and, on T Spirit models, a rear parking monitor and Intelligent Parking Assist (IPA).

The current Prius mirrors the first generation model's technique of being able to run on its petrol engine and then switch to exclusively electric operation when conditions are favourable. Toyota's Hybrid Synergy Drive offers impressive emissions and strong fuel economy performance for a car that now competes in the Avenir-sized Mondeo sector. Sometimes the Prius's silent running takes a little getting used to, but under many high-density traffic situations, this car offers totally emissions-free motoring.

A more powerful 50-kilowatt motor that operates at higher voltages offers 50 per cent more electric power than the Mk1 Prius, while sleek aerodynamics and an efficient petrol engine mean the car will accelerate to 60mph in less than 11 seconds, peak power being rated at 113bhp.

That's comparable with a number of leading diesel cars, but fuel economy is far in excess of what even the most parsimonious medium-range diesel can manage, the latest Prius bettering 56mpg in town. Carbon dioxide emissions are rated in the lowest possible banding and the Prius is exempt from London's congestion charge.

Much of the same could be said about its predecessor, but during its six-year life, Toyota shifted only 110,000 worldwide – a number which represents an average UK annual sales figure for the Ford Focus. The Mk2 Prius is proving to be far more successful – to the point where for most of the model's UK sales life thus far, demand has far exceeded supply.

Buyers have responded well to the sharky coupe-like styling and a neat front end. Yes, the wheels still look a little too small, but the shape will no longer mark you down as some sort of bearded eco-warrior. With split folding rear seats and a hatchback it's even agreeably practical, the body boasting a drag coefficient of 0.26.

The Prius is the first car to feature a fully electronic 'brake by wire' system. Mercedes had dabbled with this set-up but Toyota offer a more sophisticated arrangement that allows for the brakes to recharge the battery packs under braking. Customers have been traditionally wary of these techniques, preferring to squirt some goo up a pipe instead, all the while conveniently ignoring the fact that their steering is probably electronically controlled. Kudos to Toyota for sticking its neck out and offering a system that may some day find its way into all cars.

The innovation doesn't stop there. As well as a push-button ignition system, the Prius also features a by-wire gearshift system that dispenses with the traditional floor-mounted gear lever. Instead it opts for a dashboard-mounted joystick that drivers tap back and forth to shuttle through the gears. It's easy to operate, looks funky and frees up a little more space inside the car.

A novel electrically operated air conditioning system also debuted in this Prius. Unlike conventional set-ups that draw their power from the engine's fan belt, this system can provide an uninterrupted supply of chilled air, even when the petrol engine has shut down in favour of the electric motor.

You can see why this second generation Prius has proved so popular – big, nicely styled, better built and more fun to drive than its Mk1 predecessor. It also sweetens the deal by being more economical, more practical and cleaner to boot. At prices running from £17,782, it's not cheap – but then, cutting-edge technology never is.

Still, the recent minor improvements should keep the order books ticking over while the opposition belatedly catch up. For the time being this is still the benchmark if you're looking for a hybrid-powered car.

Parkside make up for title loss

FC Parkside 5, Rouge Lyon res 2
 Brookside Ath won 4-3 on pens (Harlow & District League, Division Two Cup final)

FC PARKSIDE may have missed out on the division two title by a solitary point but put that behind them when their 10-man side overcame Rouge Lyon reserves to win the Division Two Cup final.

Parkside were already 4-0 up when midfielder James Bishop was sent off on 62 minutes for alleged violent conduct after a fracas with Rouge player Matt Smith. Smith was booked.

Earlier, Darren Hudgell put Parkside ahead after five minutes of Sunday's clash at Barrows Farm when his 35-yard chip was pushed onto the bar by the Rouge keeper but bounced down and crept over the line.

John Rogers doubled Parkside's advantage on 40 minutes, heading home a right-wing cross by Ben Patterson.

Andrew Lund then scored twice on 50 and 60 minutes, putting Parkside 4-0 up.

Tony Gay set up Lund to fire home from the edge of the box and the player made no mistake from the penalty spot after he had been fouled.

After Parkside went down to 10, Rouge scored on 67 minutes when Calvin Campbell fired in.

However, Parkside went 5-1 up when Stuart Weston headed home a Gay cross from the right.

At the other end, Darren Swainston made two outstanding saves before Campbell grabbed his second when his 85th-minute strike managed to beat the Parkside keeper.

Jamie Patterson, Parkside's manager, said: "We dominated until we had a player sent off and after that it was even. I am very proud of my team."

ROUGE LYON RES: O'Connor, McIntyre (Gurney 86), Bago, Wilson, Herbst, O. Campbell, Holmes (Williams 70), Smith, Tibbles, Perrett (C. Campbell 60), L. Campbell.

Hammer time for Mark Hall

MARK Noble made winning a soccer tournament an even more memorable experience for Mark Hall's U-8 team – by presenting them with the trophy.

The West Ham midfielder handed over the silverware after the Harlow team won six matches and lost one in their age group at the Butlins football tournament in Bognor Regis, West Sussex. Hall scored 28 goals with cousins Tommy and Danny Wickenden netting nine apiece, while James Sinclair (5), Bradley Russell (2) and Bradley Hardy also scored. The defence was also instrumental in the team's success as they conceded only five goals.

A club spokesman said: "The boys did really well. In previous years there has been an ex-player presenting the awards so it was nice to have a current player doing it whom the boys knew. They were really pleased."

TRIUMPHANT: The Mark Hall squad and management team with West Ham star Mark Noble, back centre

Mark Hall's U-10 and U-12 sides came third and second in their respective groups, just missing out on the last four. Billy Wickenden was the top scorer for the U-10s with five goals.

Two other Mark Hall players picked up awards.

Charlie Shaves (U-9s) scooped a 'magic moment' award for an excellent piece of ball control, while Jake Goddard (U-14s) gained a similar award for scoring a hat-trick.

The U-14 girls team won the fair play award, but did not reach the final stages.

Sawbo hold on after collapse

A BATTING collapse marred Sawbridgeworth's draw with Langleybury in division two east of the Home Counties Premier Cricket League.

The visitors scored 180-9 in response to Langleybury's tally of 224-8.

Ryan Cunningham (40) top scored for Danny Wilson's side. He also grabbed 4-77 in the hosts' innings.

Andrew Richardson played after returning to the club following a spell at Sussex. He played for the county team's second string in a win over Derbyshire seconds at Derby last week.

Sawbo host leaders Hertford in two days' time.

● EPPING'S game at Billericay in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League was abandoned due to rain without a single ball being bowled.

Both sides received six points.

Lowers makes Marc for leaders Harlow

Essendon 94, Harlow Tn 95-6

Harlow Tn won by four wickets (Lord's International Herts & Essex Cricket League, division three)

PENETRATIVE bowling from Marc Lowers and Ron Yates set up a hard-earned home win for division three leaders Harlow Town over Essendon.

They took eight wickets between them after Essendon had made a solid start.

Town quick bowler Ashley Alderson picked up a side strain which allowed him just a single over.

However, this was a blessing in disguise for Town as it brought Lowers into the attack and Essendon slipped from 39-0 to 49-5.

The visitors never really recovered as they staggered to 94 all out with Yates finishing off the innings in the penultimate over, by taking the final three wickets.

Lowers took 5-14.

In reply, Town skipper Goddard mistimed a shot and was caught for 0, while fellow opener Pat Yates also went cheaply, hitting a simple chance into the slips.

Town then reached 65-6 before Scott Alderson (14 not out) and Paul Calver (24 not out) guided them home.

In the same division, POTTER STREET (109) lost by 152 runs at South Loughton II (261-5).

In division five, unbeaten HARLOW TOWN II (206-6) won by four wickets at Bishop's Stortford IVs (205-3) and in division seven, HARLOW TOWN III (85) lost by 72 runs at Albury (157-6).

POTTER STREET II (104-9) lost by 39 runs against visiting Little Bardfield (143-5) in division seven.

Harlow Town's U-15 team (78-4, Darryl Pettengell 44 not out) reached the final of the West Essex District Cricket Board League Cup after beating Dunmow (77-9) by six wickets in the last four.

Town's U-16s (212-9, Charlie Coleman 67) thrashed Springfield (112, Corey Finch) by 100 runs.

Robyn flies home with player award

YOUNG Cross Keys Netball Club player Robyn Graham is going from strength to strength.

Robyn represented the Harlow club's U-14 team in a national tournament in which they came third on Sunday.

The 13-year-old, pictured right, who plays goal defence, was also named the outstanding player at another tournament her team competed in at Bournemouth in Dorset.

She received a signed Team Bath shirt from England U-21 goal shooter Alexandra Sinclair.

Robyn's excellent displays helped Cross Keys win the Plate tournament after winning all six games.

Commenting on Robyn's award for being the tournament's outstanding player, her mother Gemma said: "It's a real achievement to win this from so many players."

Wood earn reprieve

BOREHAM Wood have earned a reprieve in Harlow Town's division due to the relegation of Halifax Town.

The Hertfordshire side finished fourth from bottom in the Ryman Football League, premier division but will escape the drop as the leagues are rejigged after the FA dropped former Football League side Halifax out of the top half of the Non-League pyramid.

Dartford and Canvey Island have been promoted into the Hawks' division, along with Dover Athletic and Tooting & Mitcham.

Sutton United also switch over after being relegated from the Blue Square South.

Al's about that for a top 20 finish

ALAN Broughton showed his ability as he led home the Harlow Running Club contingent at the Midweek Road League division two race at Bishop's Stortford.

Last Wednesday's 10km event was the first of the series and Broughton came 19th from a field of 200 in 37mins, 26secs.

Other Harlow runners who clocked under 40 minutes were Alan Wise (24th, 38:03), veteran 50 runner Roy Steven, who belied his age to come 31st in 39:09, as well as John Evans (39:41, 37th) and John Tennant (39:48, 39th).

Harlow runner Vicky Steadman was 11th in the women's section and 123rd overall in 45:31.

Other top 20 female finishes came from Dionne Jones (46:10), Sharon Wright (46:10) and Jenny Spelling (46:34).

Harlow finished 5th overall out of seven teams and were fifth and third respectively in the men's and women's sections.

The Press Gazette awards will take place at the Royal Lancaster Hotel in London on Friday June 13, when the winner of David's category will be announced.

Also shortlisted are: Amanda Little (Cumberland News), Eric MacKinnon (West Lothian Courier), Jon Colman (Cumberland News), Phil Ravitz (Hackney Gazette) and Richard Partington (Rochdale Observer). It is the first time David has entered the Press Gazette awards.

He first started as a sports reporter on the Harlow Star in 1997.

Star Sports Editor Alan Scott said: "He thoroughly deserves this recognition and fingers crossed he can win it, although even to reach this stage is a wonderful achievement. I'm really pleased that his hard work has paid off."

Ben clinches place in national final

YOUNG Harlow golfer Ben Spong won the 'golfability' charity medal at Canons Brook on Saturday.

His net score of 68 secured a place in the national final at Woodhall Spa in Lincolnshire later in the year.

The runner-up spot went to Peter Yarwood with a net 69.

On Sunday, the Elizabeth Way club's Leslie Wood team were knocked out of this year's competition at Benton Hall Golf Club, near Witham.

They lost by 5½pts to 9½ pts.

Acting non-playing team captain Graham Brownell said: "Canons Brook had every chance to win the match, but it was purely down to the putting on the day."

The club were given a walkover in their Essex Youth Shield match against Coyne Valley Golf Club (Colchester) last Saturday. Coyne were unable to field a side against the Harlow club.

Olympics Minister Tessa turns the tables!

OLYMPICS minister Tessa Jowell proved a dab hand with a table tennis bat when she visited the BATTs club at Old Harlow's Norman Booth Leisure Centre.

Ms Jowell challenged the Elderfield club's youngest member Ethan Walsh (5) to a quick match, but lost to the talented youngster.

The minister got a tour of the complex from club secretary Neil Brierley. It was recently awarded £110,000 from Sport England which will revamp the old facilities.

The centre has been chosen as a training venue for the 2012 London Olympics.

Ms Jowell said: "I was impressed by what I saw in Harlow, and the amount of thought going into making sure that the town gets its share of the 2012 dividend when the Olympics comes to London.

"It is not just a question of the Government setting the pace, local communities and local people have to put on their thinking caps to make sure they benefit. Harlow is doing just that."

Medal haul for town athletes

SUCCESS The triumphant Harlow team

A TEAM of young Harlow athletes with special needs brought home a bagful of gold, silver and bronze medals after a successful trip to a prestigious regional tournament.

Fifteen young athletes from Harlow Athletic Club's all ability sports and leisure section, which is supported by Harlow Council's Sports Development group, competed in the East Regional Disability Athletics Championships in Cambridge, on Saturday.

More than 200 competitors from all over East Anglia took part and the Harlow team clocked up an impressive tally of 19 gold, 11 silver and 7 bronze medals.

The Harlow squad, which included wheelchair users and young athletes with moderate and severe learning disabilities, competed in a range of track and field events.

Many members of the team, aged between 10- and 24-years-old, achieved personal bests in time and distance, across a range of sporting disciplines.

The event was organised by England Athletics and was aimed at giving young sport people with special needs the opportunity to take part in a large, competitive event.

Competitors who achieved a qualifying standard in the Championships will be invited to join a regional team to compete in the national finals in July.

Helen Offord, the council's Sports

Development Officer, said: "Although the weather was not at its best, our team performed brilliantly and everyone should be very proud of themselves."

Anna Huntingdon, whose daughter Rosa is a member of the Harlow AC squad, added: "The competitors all absolutely loved it and I know it's really a high spot in the whole year for them."

Young people and adults with special needs or physical disabilities can join the Harlow Athletic Club's training sessions, which take place every Monday at Mark Hall Sportcentre athletics track from 5.30pm to 6.30pm for 9- to 14-year-olds and from 6.30pm to 7.30pm for young people aged 15 and above.

For further information, call Ms Offord, on (01279) 446417.

In leg two, Etherington just missed a 110 outshot and McNally finished on 68.

Third and 4th legs saw McNally shoot out on 130 and 100, taking the match and singles champions title.

Young players made their mark with Dillon Townsend (11), from CC Whites, winning his first round match against seasoned campaigner Frank McGinlay. Dillon went out in the 2nd round despite scoring his first competitive 180.

Reece Barnett (9), of Young Pretenders, also won his first round match against veteran player Colin Brown (CC Foxes). Although a little older, Nathan Wilkinson (15), from UG Social, impressed by reaching the semi-final.

He lost 4-1 to Etherington after taking the first leg by shooting out on 100. Nathan also hit a 180 in the final leg.

Alec Anderson (UG Glass) beat Dicky Smith (Young Pretenders) 3-2 in the singles Plate final.

With the score at two legs each, Smith left himself 32 with Anderson back on 116.

Saracens star's rugby insight

LONG-serving Saracens star Kris Chesney gave some interesting insights into his career at Harlow Rugby Club's sponsors dinner.

Chesney has been a forward at the Guinness Premiership club for 13 years and was introduced by Rams player-coach, his former Eastern Counties team-mate Lee Harron at Friday's function. The Saracens player paid rich tribute to World Cup winner and club colleague Richard Hill who has just retired.

In a question and answer session, Chesney said: "We would not have won the World Cup without him and when he was injured on the Lions tour of Australia [2001] we lost.

"His work rate was enormous and he was always in the right areas at the right time."

Asked to pick out three top players he has played with at Sarries, he named Hill plus former France international Philippe Sella and former South Africa skipper Francois Pienaar. Sella's skill and Pienaar's leadership were lauded.

The top three England internationals he has played against were Martin Johnson, Lawrence Dallaglio and Danny Grewcott, he said, praising the former two for their presence on the pitch. Chesney, who is due to play for the Barbarians, had the opportunity to go to Toulouse and although he has stayed loyal to Saracens he does not rule out playing elsewhere in the future. "It's your job. You have to go where the money is," he said.

Gary Brown won Harlow's Player of the Year award.

Club chairman Alan Brooking received a life membership tie for his sterling contribution over many years.

Wendy Ellis was presented with The Spooner Award for services to youth rugby, primarily for her work with the child protection policy.

Physio Steve Smith received the John Hurley Award for services to the club, while secretary Chris McFerran was given the President's Award for his administrative work.

Other awards went to: Matt Branch (third team), Mark Wedd (fourth team) and Kerry Palmer (social secretary and women's team coach).

Plenty of zip for Zap!

Seven-up bowler brightens gloomy day

Harlow 158, Loughton 147-9
Match drawn
(Shepherd Neame Essex League, division two)

SUBLIME bowling from seamer Zap Nazir almost brought Harlow victory in a tense rain-affected match at Loughton.

Replying to Harlow's 158, Loughton had 25 overs to chase the target.

Home skipper Mike Hughes made an excellent 84, but the side lost nine wickets with Nazir taking seven wickets for 45 runs on Saturday.

However, Stuart Greenhill, who had earlier gone off with an injured hamstring came back to play out the final four balls and clinch a draw.

Harlow skipper James Butler, playing his first league match of the season following a hernia operation, said: "We thought we had won before Greenhill came back on but I am not too unhappy with the result.

"They [Loughton] are a good side and will be pushing for promotion. It was a good eight points for us.

"Zap was the stand-out bowler - he bowled superbly and apart from one wicket where the players pulled to mid-on, it was him getting the batsmen out lbw, bowled or catches behind the wicket rather than through unforced errors."

Loughton won the toss and put Harlow in to bat.

This soon brought rewards as quick bowler Kelby Pickering, from South Australia, trapped Niles Odedra lbw for 12. He then bowled Nick Butler for 12 and had Waqas Akhtar caught at second slip for a duck.

Haroon Khan was also dismissed cheaply, leaving Harlow tottering on 40-4.

However, either side of a rain break which meant an early tea and at least an hour being trimmed from the playing time, Simon Baulcomb and James Butler (15) put on a valuable 45.

Baulcomb batted sensibly to notch 44 and with most of the lower order making small double figure scores, Harlow managed to set a competitive target and were able to neutralise the threat of Pickering.

The Aussie's 3-59 from 19 overs was a commendable return but not a match-winning one.

Butler added: "The Shenfield lads said that Pickering had produced a lot of pace against them but there was no life in the Loughton wicket although he did bowl well.

"Simon Baulcomb batted really well for us and the rain break helped us. It meant we could play the game at our pace and without it they would have had more time to get the runs.

"I am proud of the boys who stood up to be counted in tricky conditions against a top side."

FOCUS: Niles Odedra disappointed with the bat at Loughton on Saturday, but team-mate Zap Nazir was on song
